SIGNS OF DISTRESS

People Should Know How to Read and Read Him.

Disordered kidneys give many signs of distress.

The secretions may be dark, contain sediment.

Passages are sometimes frequent, scanty, painful.

Backache is often present day and night.

Headache and dizzy spells may occur.

Weakened kidneys should receive quick help.

Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys, backache and urinary disorders.

Hopkinsville evidence proves their worth.

A. F. Witty, carpenter, 623 North Main St., Hopkinsville, says:

"My kidneys acted irregularly, sometimes too freely and then again not often enough. My back was weak, too, and my limbs ached and pained. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at the Anderson-Fowler Drug Co., and after using them all symptoms of kidney complaint disappeared."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Dr. Witty had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

IS DEADLY FOE OF HUMANITY

One Thing That Is More Powerful Than All the Armies of the World Combined.

I am more powerful than the combined armies of the world.

I have destroyed more men than all the wars of the world.

I am more deadly than bullets and I have wrecked more homes than the mightiest of siege guns.

I steal, in the United States alone, over $300,000,000 each year.

I spare no one and I find my victims among rich and poor alike; the young and old; the strong and weak; widows and orphans know me.

I loom up to such proportions that I cast my shadow over every field of labor from the turning of the grindstone to the moving of every railroad train.

I massacre thousands upon thousands of wage earners in a year.

I lurk in unseen places and do most of my work silently. You are warned against me, but you heed not.

I am relentless, I am everywhere; in the home, on the street, in the factory, at railroad crossings and on the sea.

I bring sickness, degradation and death, and yet few seek to avoid me.

I destroy, crush or maim; I give nothing, but take all.

I am your worst enemy.

I am Carelessness.—Baltimore Sun.

DIETARY RULES FOR THE AGED

Total Amount of Food Consumed Must Be Diminished and Vegetables Should Be Used Freely.

Owing to the diversity in extent and character of the senile changes in different individuals, it is impossible to arrange for aged persons a general dietary based upon calories, proteins, etc., but it is possible to make some broad generalizations, and this is what Dr. L. L. Nascher did at a meeting of the Medical Association of the Greater City of New York. The Medical Journal gives the following synopsis of Doctor Nascher's advice:

"The total amount of food must be diminished. With the falling out of teeth, the amount of meat must be diminished, and it must be thoroughly cooked and finely chopped. Vegetables containing much cellulose should be used freely. Foods should be prepared in a liquid, semi-liquid or mush form, and dry foods, especially smoked foods and nuts, should be avoided.

"Food should not be given at shorter intervals than four or five hours. Mild alcoholics with meals and at bedtime were not objectionable. Old people were apt to overeat when they got some exceptional delicacy, and care must be exercised in this respect."

Fifteen on the Fifteenth.

Were I brought to believe that a birthday celebration is ever an affair of unalloyed loveliness, I should perhaps be brought to say it concerning one for fifteen on the fifteenth. Fourteen on the fourteenth lacks flavor, is a little unripe, like fruit imported before the real season is at hand. Sixteen on the sixteenth is a little over-mellow, a little late; already childhood is gone, and youth, however lovely it may be in the receiving of homage and favors, should already have its hands outstretched rather to bestow them. But fifteen on the fifteenth! There is a golden mean and a time for all things, as the Scriptures and the fairy tales tell us. This was the time to dance, that King Solomon talks about. Like the "Toney Bear" soup in the old tale, this party to celebrate fifteen on the fifteenth seems to me as nearly right as things can be conceived in a world of chance like our own.—Laura

INDIAN HUNTERS OF WEST

Primitive Red Men of California Killed for Food Only and Never Slaughtered Game for Market.

The bows of primitive California Indian hunters were made of mountain ash, willow and elder, and the arrows of carrizo reeds which are found in damp places on the desert, says the Southern Workman. The reed to be straightened is heated and run through grooves in a stone. For hunting small game a pointed piece of chamise wood, hardened in fire, is fastened into one end of the reed with a glue which is drawn from the pith of the same wood. This glue is also used to fasten the feather barks at the opposite end. Stone arrowheads were used for big game and in war. They were roughly shaped out first, then their points and edges sharpened by striking them against a piece of deer horn which was bound to the fingers of the left hand. To make five or six arrowheads was a good day's work.

In those days each tribe had its own game laws and game preserves. The Indians forbade trespassing by the members of other tribes, and punished offenders severely whenever they caught them. They killed for food, sparing the buck in the breeding season and shooting the doe only in case of dire necessity. As a consequence game was plentiful and the white man is blamed for its depletion. The Indian never slaughtered for the market; the white man did and exterminated many valuable species of fauna.

KEEPING SPIRIT OF YOUTH

Upon Its Preservation Depends Largely All Achievements of Man in His Later Life.

Later life is largely the working out of the visions and the enthusiasm which comes to us in youth. For youth is not only the beginning, but the perennial spring of all our faculties.

The real test of the man is not: How much skill has he? But how much youth abides in his soul?

Whether the long stretches of middle life, under the heat of the sun and the burden of the day, shall be a monotonous and barren plain, or blossoms as a garden continually freshened by crystal waters, depends upon the depth and volume of the springs of youth.

There are men of few years but great age. We have all seen them—these old men of thirty or forty, who have fingered the fringe of life with the tips of their idle hands and imagine they are sated, worn-out men of the world. They have exhausted, as they believe, all of life's resources, and for them the years hold nothing but monotony and weariness. Nonentities.—Christian Herald.

OLD CANAL BOATS GO.

Under a recent edict of the New York legislature the horse and the mule as a motive power on the Erie canal will give way to motor-driven tugs. For 80 years the motive power has been entirely by mules and horses. With the country at war and a desire to move freight rapidly and relieve the railroads, it was decided to make the change.

FOR HER COUNTRY.

Mrs. Pardee (looking up from newspaper)—Here's an account of an English woman who has sent four husbands to the front and lost them all.

Pardee—Does the account say the lady has resumed recruiting?—Puck.

SATISFACTORY REPLY.

Doctor—Is the pretty patient just brought in, light-headed?

Nurse—Yes, doctor, and exactly the blonde tint you like.

THE PROPER KIND.

"What age do you suppose a chaperon ought to be?"

"Oh, I guess something about an espionage would do."

THE ELUSIVE DAY.

"Who invented the saying, 'Tomorrow never comes?'"

"I don't know. But I'll bet it was a debt collector!"

PERTINENT INQUIRY.

Mean Patron—"When I had made the rounds of the bazaar I was spent." Cynical Friend—"But was your money?"

Better Banking Service for Farmers

A vast fund, now aggregating a thousand million dollars has been assembled by Act of Congress to stand back of the farming and business interests of the country.

This fund is the Federal Reserve Banking System, of which we are a member, and it enables us better than ever before to supply our farmers with the credit and currency they need for producing crops and to protect them against disorganized markets.

If you are not linked up with this system as one of our depositors come in and let us tell you how it helps you.
